

cided to guarantee 100 guests at the Inn and everybody who is able at all is urged to go there because conference will be worth double to those who get the benefit of the associations thus afforded. It will be like one big family. The expense is small in any case and after one takes the time and comes from a distance it would be too bad to miss half the meeting by settling down some place alone.

Doctrinal Session

There is danger nowadays in our free fellowship with churches of varying creeds that we lose sight of the importance of sound doctrine. At the doctrinal session some of our ablest men will discuss the spiritual significance of the ordinances. The best session has been kept until the last so that all will remain until the close of the meeting.

Bible Lessons

Brother J. Allen Miller, A. M., B. D. has consented to give a Bible lesson on Romans at the opening of each morning business session. This will be a great inducement to be there on time as no one can afford to miss these lessons. Brother Miller's well-known fine scholarship and earnest consecration makes this a strong feature of the program. A half hour each evening also is given to Bible readings on helpful subjects. Look at the program for details.

Vesper Services

The park affords opportunity for many unique features. Among these will be the vesper services held under the trees on the hillside by the lake as the sun goes down. No one who has not attended them can realize how inspiring these services are. Heaven and earth seem met together and one is lifted to such a realization of the glorious life that they are glad they came to conference.

Other Features too Numerous to Mention

Besides these features there will be others as surprises and some which will develop during the meeting. There will be the group prayer meetings on Sunday morning at the hotels, or verandas, in cosy arbors and wherever a few are met together "in His name." There may be a service aboard the steamer. There may be time for a patriotic service. There will be time for social meetings for mutual acquaintance.

Let every one prepare to stay a full week. The expense will be slightly if any greater than for five days.

The Winona Bible Conference

Why not come a week or ten days earlier and enjoy the Bible Conference (Aug. 13 to 23) under the lead of the world-famous evangelist J. Wilbur Chapman? Other famous teachers and writers will give daily addresses. See the account in another column. These meetings will be free to everybody. Circulars will be sent on application. Come and help make this conference an epoch in the history of the Brethren church.

Important Announcement

RAILROAD RATES

Purchase regular tickets to the Winona

Assembly and Summer School, Winona Lake, Ind.

These tickets are good for 15 days from date of purchase. The rate is one fare, plus 5 per cent. on all lines in the Central Passenger Association and $1\frac{1}{3}$ fare on all other roads. Buy your ticket to the nearest point in the Central Passenger Association and then buy a one fare ticket to Winona Lake.

Speak to your R. R. agent at once about tickets, otherwise he may not have any on hand when you want to start. Do this even if doubtful of your going. You will surely conclude to go when the time comes. Passengers on the Penn'a. R. R. get off at Winona Lake. Those on the Big Four get off at Warsaw and go to park by steamboat, hack or Penn'a. R. R.

PARK ACCOMMODATIONS

The Minnewawa Inn or Woman's Building just across the way from the auditorium will be the rendezvous of most of the delegates. This is a spacious building a cut of which appears in this paper. It can easily accommodate six hundred guests and is one of the coolest places on the grounds, its broad verandas being a popular resort. It has a large waiting room with ample accommodations for letter writing and a fine chapel up stairs which can be used if desired.

The rooms are finely furnished and the board is excellent. The Brethren conference has been granted lower rates here than the Presbyterian Assembly. Our rates are $1.00 per day for board and room.

Weekly rate, $7.00.

Room only per week $2.50 for one person or $3.00 for two.

Single lodging 45 cts. Single meal 35 cts. Tickets good for 21 meals, $5.25.

THE CAFE

The cafe can accommodate all who choose to go there for lunch or full meal.

Tickets for 21 meals $4.00, for single meal, 25 cents, 5 cents of which goes to the conference treasury.

THE GROCERY AND OTHER STANDS

There is a large grocery (see ad. in another column) with full supplies of everything needed in that line besides various refreshment stands.

There is also a clothing store, book store, photograph gallery, etc. Those who wish to drive through or do light house keeping can arrange to do so nicely and at small expense.

COTTAGES

There is a street of cottages close to the lake shore which are nicely furnished with bed, chairs, stand and lamp, at $2.00 per room per week. One hundred and thirty people can find lodging here. The Warsaw congregation will furnish a limited supply of bedding for those who desire it. Pillows and blankets can be rented on the grounds.

Cottages or single rooms can be rented on the hill side of their owners at rates varying from $3.00 per week upward. Secure cottages or rooms of the Winona Association direct.

"Beautiful Winona" is just across the lake from Warsaw and transit can be had back and forth on the steamboat or "dummy" on the R. R., or by hacks or afoot.

Delegates will be met at the trains by members of the reception committee of the Warsaw church.

Notes

Keep this paper for reference.

Provide yourself with plenty of change when you start to conference. You will want to purchase some good books or renew your subscription to the EVANGELIST or give a lot of it to the missionary cause. Bring plenty of change.

Don't forget to examine the books of the Missionary Reading Circle at the book table. Take some of the circulars and join the circle.

Give a copy of this paper to your neighbor or anyone thinking of coming to conference.

You are wanted to board and room at the Inn to help make up the 100 guests guaranteed there as pay for the use of the grounds. Be patriotic and get the good of the meeting after you go.

Read all the announcements carefully and make your plans. Then drop a card or ask for further information of the secretary of executive committee, C. F. Yoder, Warsaw, Ind.

Some Do's and Don'ts

Do your planning now for the meeting. You cannot think of everything at once. Do arrange your work so that you can be present for the first song and last benediction.

Don't come with a grievance or a desire to be prominent, or a hobby that must succeed or you die.

Don't pluck the park flowers. Get the gardener to do that.

Don't smoke.

Don't miss the devotional services. Do your best to make them enthusiastic and helpful, but don't talk in meeting unless you have something worth saying.

Do bring your Bibles and note-books. You will have need of them constantly.

Bring your plain clothes and jewelry and put the latter in the offering for missions. Don't forget your credentials if you are a delegate. Do your best to get acquainted with everybody. Don't criticise the officers or speakers or business transactions or anything. One of the most important dues is the $1.00 due from each delegate, (50 cents for each one after the first when there are more than one from the same place.) Don't forget these dues and don'ts.

Kanemorado Convention

The Kanemorado convention to be held at Carleton, Neb., will open August 20th. Owing to the change of date for holding our National Conference to August 25th which conflicts with our time just one day according to former announcement on program, we change the date for beginning ours to August 20th instead of the 22nd as noted on our published program. Let every one carefully note the change and be at Carleton August 20th, 7:30 P. M. Carleton will entertain free of charge. We would urge all the congregations in the Kanemorado conference district to represent without fail. If it is impossible to represent by delegates each can do so by letter. Dele-
